LES TROIS PRINCIPALES CAUSES DE L'ACNÉ

- Une hypersécrétion de sébum par les glandes sébacées due à un dysfonctionnement hormonal typique de l'adolescent.
- Une hyperkératinisation (un important épaissement de la peau) qui entraîne une compression du follicule pileux, comprimant les débuts de boutons et entraînant une inflammation et une infection plus rapide.
- Une infection du canal folliculaire par la prolifération des bactéries.

WHAT ARE THE THREE MAIN CAUSES OF ACNE ?

- An excess of sebum secretion by sebaceous gland due to hormonal disorders on most of the teenagers.
- A hyperkeratinisation which causes a compression of the hair follicle which in turn promotes inflammatory.
- The proliferation of bacteria in the hair follicle which become infected.
