Tips For Use

Application of Skin Tag Control Extra Strength typically works by causing the skin tag to gradually flake away and helps prevent additional growths.

Often, in the first week of treatment you will notice the skin tag appear slightly dry and flakey. After a week of treatment, small bits of the skin tag will begin flaking away, this will continue until the skin tag is completely gone, which can take anywhere from 1-4 weeks when applied 3 times per day.

It can completely remove a skin tag in as little as a week or two, but the time it takes to completely remove a skin tag can be made longer or shorter, depending on a few factors including:

- The strength of the individuals' immune system - The healthier the immune system the quicker your healing time will likely be.

- How long the skin tag has been there - The longer the symptom has been present the longer the treatment will take.
